About

Molecular biologist and historian by formal training, but software developer by passion. Also now by career.

Need a smart, motivated, and hard-working desktop or embedded developer? Hire me! Send mail to my first name at codygray.com.

My deepest areas of expertise are the x86 microarchitecture and the Windows API, but my interests span multiple platforms and diverse disciplines. At work, I design, build, and maintain speciality embedded hardware and software to perform data-acquisition and real-time signal processing from sensors, primarily targeting the aerospace industry. These
