About

I am a self-made man. I started programming as a hobby when I was in elementary school, with TI-Basic on a TI99/4A and move from there to AppleBasic. By the time I got to elementary school I was rolling with Turbo C++. High school introduced me to Pascal. Around the time I entered college the Internet took off. I then learned a bit of HTML, VBScript, and Javascript. Developed some classic ASP professionally. That was painfully. Now I have moved on to .Net development.
