About

I'm a German software developer with a knack for the real-world but a love for theoretical rambling. I have a M.Sc. equivalent (Diplom) in computer science and speech processing.

My programming experience ranges from developing an NNTP newsreader in the nineties in AmigaE, a Gameboy Advance game in pure Assembler 10 years ago (I also painted the graphics ;) to my current work which is about migrating a large business application to C# and WPF.

As a good work environment I prefer a nice and competent team, challenging projects and the possibility to wear headphones when I need them. I wear suits on occasion and
