About

I have always been enthusiastic about software. I've got a couple of years of experience with a wide array of technologies and recently I have also become a fan of open source. I've got expertise with web, mobile and desktop development. The main technologies I use are .NET and Qt. I've been working on web projects since 2008, and I've been developing mobile apps since 2010. I've grown to like both Linux and Windows, and I prefer to use the right tool for the right job. I always prefer quality over quantity and have a passion for user interface development.

I'm proficient with

- Qt the C++ framework and also Qt Quick and QML
