About

I am a software engineer who has been writing code for over 25 years, but I still find new things to learn all the time. In the past I was the owner of VistaDB, and Emerald Technology (both were sold).

I work for Microsoft as a Principal Software Engineering Manager. I manage a team of engineers across North America, we specialize in helping really big companies modernize their applications for Microsoft Azure.

I have been spending time learning Python and Data Science just to keep up with trends in software.

All opinions are my own.
